
NEWS & UPDATES

Dear Friend,

We can encounter God in unique and profound ways during challenging times.

The Office of Ignatian Spirituality, along with the broader Jesuit and Ignatian community, has many resources and opportunities to help us during this pandemic, several of which are listed below. I encourage you to explore what is available, see where you are most drawn, and make prayerful use of what is offered.

Let us continue to pray for the sick, for those who care for them, and for all those suffering as a result of this pandemic, with its social and economic effects. May Christ the Healer draw near.

In Christ,

Rev. George M. Witt, SJ

Finding God During a Pandemic: Insights on Grief and Loss

While life has always been marked by change and loss, nothing could have prepared us for the sudden loss of “life as we know it” and the suffering that we have witnessed recently. In this program, Nicholas Collura, M.Div., will consider experiences of grief in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic.

This event is free and open to all.

Examen Live! with Jesuit Novices

Two Jesuit novices will lead us in prayer this Friday, May 1, 2020, at 4pm (EDT).

Michael Petro, nSJ, is a second-year novice currently assigned to the University of Scranton, where he works in The Division of Mission and Ministry on service and social justice programming. David Said, nSJ, is also a second-year novice, who is serving at Nativity Miguel Buffalo Middle School, St.

Augustine Campus.

We are pleased to be co-hosting this event with BeaJesuit.org.
